FOREWORD.

"General Analysis" is an effort to facilitate assembling of essential Symptom Groups for comparison.

Clinical symptoms are first divided into "General" or constitutional charactersitics, as

1. Cold and heat, both aggravate.
2. Humid weather aggravates.
3. Lying on abdomen ameliorates.
4. Bloody discharges; nasal.
5. Partial sweats; feet.

The perforated cards covering these rubrics placed in apposition and held up to the light show through as follows:

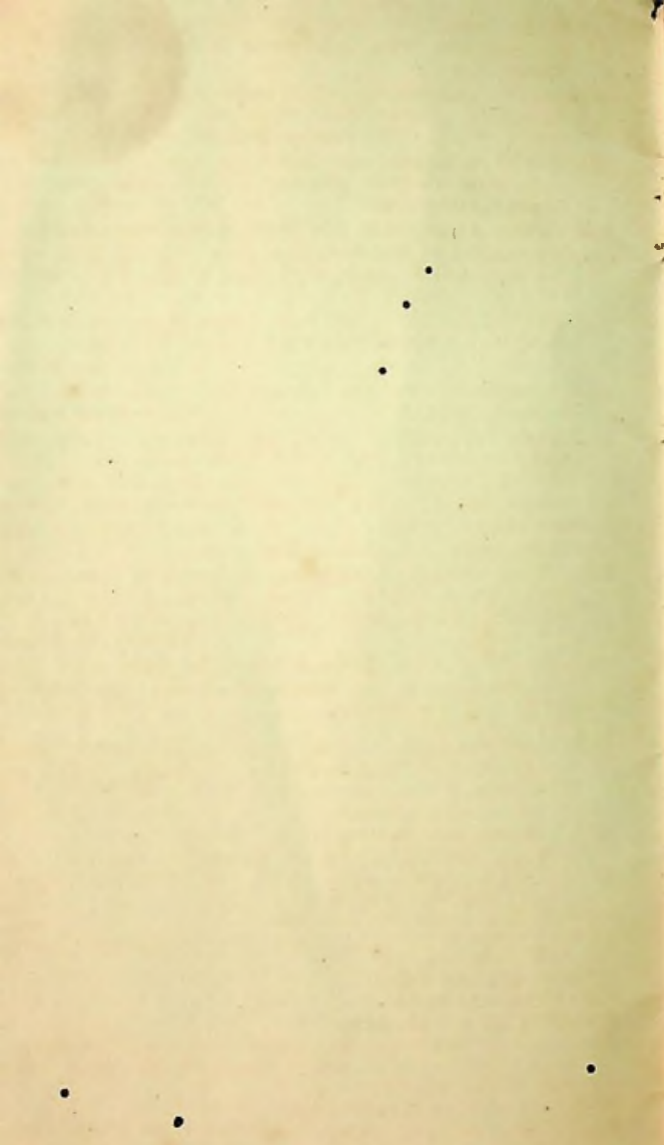

Calcarea-carb .....	-	x	-	0	-
Carbo-veg .....	0	0	-	0	0
Ipecac .....	0	0	-	0	0
Lachesis .....	-	-	0	-	0
Phosphorus .....	-	x	0	-	0
Pulsatilla .....	-	x	0	0	-
Sepia .....	x	x	-	-	-
	Page. 330	350	486	1063	59

The rubrics of the PARTICULARS or discrete symptoms as found in Kent's Repertory, are

6. Internal nose raw and scabby, 330; dark, bloody discharge, anosmia 350 and deafness.
7. Greasy, puffed, stupid face, with acne, which is also on back.
8. Craves sweets 486, which disagree.
9. Menses early, scanty and dark; preceded by leg ache 1063 and irritated mood 59.
10. Has had mumps, scarlet fever, flu and whooping cough.

This is the tabulation of an actual case cured with three doses of Sepia given at very long intervals.

The "Synoptic Key" usually affords the best aid in making final differentiations.
